3- The Most Powerful Mirrorless Camera in The World

This is a review of the Olympus OM-D E-M1 II with kit lens. I was sent this to test, along with an E-M5 Mark II with 2nd Gen 16:9 compact lens and a bunch of other gear. The review is based on the E-M1 II with kit lens. The E-M1 II gets more processing power in the 3-axis sensor with Dual Digic IV processors. However, if you want to know what is the most powerful mirrorless camera in the world, you have to consider the Leica M (Typ 240) in my personal opinion. I've reviewed the Leica M (Typ 240) and I think it is the most powerful compact camera in the world with this review. The entire compact camera market is dominated by Sony and Canon. Sony doesn't have any mirrorless competition but Fuji and Panasonic do. I personally think they are all great cameras. I have used all of them and none of them suck. I have a wide variety of compact cameras from a couple of different brands and I use them all. I feel that the Olympus E-M1 II is the best all around compact camera.
